

There is an ever-growing number of initiatives in Stroud District focused on moving to carbon neutrality, many unaware of each other's existence. There are people and groups with new ideas that want to be connected to others thinking along the same lines. We're a small group that's been working towards mapping all these initiatives and projects. Our aim is to make this available on an online map, for individuals, community groups and others looking to get involved in, or start up, such projects..

If you are working on, involved in or thinking about a carbon neutral initiative, then drop in on our Carbon Neutral 2030 MapJam, a day when we'll be seeding the map with as many projects and initiatives as possible.
